MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director (Support)

SUBJECT: Organization of China and Asian Satellites Division, Office of Current Intelligence.

This memorandum contains a recommendation submitted for DD/S approval. Such recommendation is contained in paragraph 4.

1. Attached (Tab A) is a request from the Office of Current Intelligence to establish an internal organizational structure for the China and Asian Satellites Division, Sino-Soviet Bloc Area.

2. The China and Asian Satellites Division was established as part of the OCI organization on 25 June 1956 without a formal internal structure. This was done in order to permit the Division to acquire the operating experience required to determine the type of structure best suited to its functions. It has now been decided to establish three branches, dealing with external Chinese relations, internal Chinese relations and the Asian Satellites in their entirety. The proposed structure and the mission and functions of China and Asian Satellites Division are similar to those of other OCI divisions with similar responsibilities.

3. Approval of the request will require no increases in table of organization, ceiling or funds. Concurrence of the Chief, Position Evaluation Division is in Tab B. The Chief, Budget Division states, in his concurrence (Tab C), that approval of this tion of this trend could cause problems in dealing with the Bureau of the Budget. It should be noted that OCI has prepared a request to reduce its overall T/O to equal its recently reduced ceiling. This paper will be submitted within the next few weeks.

4. It is recommended that the OCI request be approved.
